Amidnight fire inferno at the Faith Revival Apostolic Church (FRAC) Lagos yesterday claimed the seven-year-old daughter of one of the resident pastors, Peter Adesina.

It was gathered that the inferno was noticed around 1:15am while the monthly workers’ vigil was ongoing within the church premises.

The deceased, Priscilla, was said to be sleeping in her parent’s apartment when the incident occurred.

Though the cause of the fire outbreak was yet to be ascertained, a statement by the Assistant General Overseer of FRAC, Pastor Emmanuel Adenuga said the girl had died before rescuers got to her.

Adenuga said: “The fire was noticed at about 1.15am in one of the resident pastors’ apartments while the monthly workers’ vigil was going on within the Church compound.

“By the time people got to know about it, frantic efforts were made to put out the fire with fire extinguishers and water. “Immediately, distress calls were made to the police and Fire Service station nearby.

“However, the havoc had been wrecked through the loss of the girl’s life who was asleep in her parents’ apartment.”

The statement added that Policemen from Idimu Area Command and men of the Fire Service from Ikotun later succeeded in preventing the fire from spreading to other apartments within the church.
