Boko Haram

Awake keep in Kuda-Kaya village, Madagali Local Government Area, Adamawa State, turned bloody on Thursday night after an attack on mourners by Boko Haram terrorists.

No fewer than 18 of the mourners, most of them women, were gunned down by the extremists who were believed to have sneaked in from the nearby Sambisa Forest, which is the operational and training base of the terror sect.

Some women were still missing at press time.

The injured were rushed to Gulak Cottage Hospital for treatment.

It is the second Boko Haram attack on the village, the first being last February.

The rampaging terrorists, who rode on motorcycles, also set houses on fire and kept shooting indiscriminately with no one available to resist them.

The attack took place at about 5 p.m. on Thursday.

A resident, Moses Kwagh, told Reuters that people wailed until three hours after the attack and had then counted 18 women's bodies.

The Public Relations Officer of the state police command, DSP Othman Abubakar, said: "So far, 18 people have been killed in the attack. But the number of the casualties could be much higher."

The House of Representatives member from Michika/Madagali, Adamu Kamale, said the number of casualties could not be immediately ascertained. But he said that many residents were killed.

State lawmaker Emmanuel Tsamdu told Reuters: "I am yet to get the details on how it happened and the real number of people killed. I have sent hunters to go to the area and get me the details because people are afraid to go to the village."

In the same state, the police have arrested a suspect described as one of the most wanted Boko Haram commanders.

The suspect was nabbed in Gombi local government area by a policeman who reportedly sighted him at a security check point.

The removed his uniform, changed into mufti and trailed the suspect to a bank's Automated Teller Machine (ATM) where he withdrew money.

Machine (ATM) apparently to withdraw money.

At the bank,the suspect begged a man on the queue to assist him in withdrawing money from the ATM.

This confirmed the policeman's suspicion and he quickly mobilized the bank's security guards to arrest the suspect.

The police confirmed the arrest and the identity of the suspect.

He is currently undergoing interrogation,they said.
