

In the neighbourhood of Owode, a rustic community also in Ado Odo/Ota Local Government, Ogun State, the mention of Ahmed Kazeem elicited fears among his peers and residents. His notoriety as a kingpin of Eye Confraternity is an open book, so much so that he flaunted his membership of the outlawed group like a wedding ring. But his trajectory of violence terminated albeit on a tragic note on July 2, 2016 after he was hacked and chased to death by members of Aiye Confraternity, a rival cult group.
