A Federal High Court in Abuja has summoned the Director, Legal Department of the Nigeria Customs Service (NCS) and a lawyer in the department, S. I. Bello, over the death of a suspect, Abubakar Rilwan.

Justice Nnamdi Dimgba, who is sitting as the court's vacation judge, ordered that the NCS's legal director and Bello appear at the court on August 4 to explain why they should not be cited for contempt for allegedly failing to send Rilwan for medical attention as ordered by the court.

It was learnt that Rilwan, who was said to be a staff of Arewa Consultative Forum, was arrested by the NCS on allegation of forgery.

He was said to have claimed he had connection with the NCS, with the capacity to influence employment in the Customs.

The NCS later arrested him in June, accused him of forging some NCS documents. He was taken to the Federal High Court on July 12 for arraignment.

Observing that Rilwan was not looking healthy, the judge suspended proceedings and directed that the accused person be taken before medical experts for proper examination and attention.

Yesterday, Rilwan's lawyer Laura Oviawe told the court that her cleint died on July 13 at 9 pm while arrangement was being made to take him to court.

Oviawe said officials of the NCS called her on July 13 to inform her of the development.

The NCS was not represented in yesterday, prompting the judge to order that the lawyer, who represented the court on July 12, Bello, and the director, NCS Legal Services to appear in court on August 4, to explain why the court's order that Riwan be taken for medical attention was not complied with.
