THE treasurer of the Abia State chapter of the Peoples Democratic Party (PDP), Chief Steve Omeoga has been confirmed dead, after he slumped during a game of tennis in one of the sports clubs in Umuahia, the state capital. The death of Omeoga is coming few weeks after the party lost one of its prominent members, Patience Monday Oroni, in a fatal motor accident while returning home after submitting her nomination form for the December 17 local government election.

The death of Omeoga has been described as a huge surprise by those close to him. According to a source who spoke on the condition of anonymity, Omeoga came into the club for the game in a happy and cheering mood and ordered for two cartons of beer for the members. According to the source, other members who were watching the game raised the alarm after Omeoga fell to the floor exhausted.

He was later rushed to the federal medical centre after efforts to revive him failed, but was confirmed dead by the doctors. The state Publicity Secretary of the party, Chief Don Ubani, in a telephone chat, confirmed the death of the party official, describing it as very unfortunate, adding that the party has lost one of its shining executive members.
