

Two suspected cultists killed in Ilorin

TWO suspected cultists were killed at the weekend in Ilorin, Kwara State capital.

It was gathered that the deceased were accosted in their car by their assailants about 6.30 pm on Akerebiata-Sobi Road.

One of the victims, who drove, was shot in the neck; he died instantly. His partner, who managed to escape, was cut with a cutlass.

An eyewitness said: "They cut him severely on the face, in fact it would be difficult to recognise him after the machete cuts."

He added that the culprits earlier shot to scare away people.

"Even some security people, who were around the area, turned back when gunshots rent the air," another said.

Police spokesman Ajayi Okasanmi could not be reached for comments.
