An FCT High Court, Apo, yesterday ordered the remand of a 28-year-old man, Abdulkarim Zubairu, in Kuje Prison.

He was accused of killing a 13-year-old boy, Umaru Hussini, with a machete.

Zubairu, a resident of Pangu village, Kwali, is standing trial on a charge of culpable homicide, an offence he denied.

The prosecutor, Simon Lough, told the court that the defendant allegedly committed the offence on October 1, 2013.

He said Zubairu used a machete to cut Hussini's hand, after an argument, resulting in the victim bleeding to death.

Lough said the cutlass was later recovered on the scene of the crime.

The offence, the prosecutor said, contravened Section 220 of the Penal Code and is punishable by death.

Justice Bolaji Belgore adjourned the case till March 13 for hearing.
