Court remands two for colleague's death

Posted By: Our Reporter On: April 10, 2018 In: News, News Update

Two men, Suleiman Kabiru and Shuaibu Gambo, are to spend the next 31 days behind bars for allegedly beating a colleague fatally, an Ebute Meta Chief Magistrates' Court in Lagos ruled yesterday.

The accused, Kabiru (30) and Gambo (20) are facing charges of conspiracy and murder.

Magistrate O.A. Adegite, who gave the ruling, directed that the casefile be duplicated and a copy sent to the Director of Public Prosecutions (DPP) for legal advice.

Inspector Julius Babatope, said the accused committed the offences on February 27 at 10pm at Elewa Junction in Ikorodu in Lagos State.

He said the duo pounced on Ibrahim Kabiru (28) and beat him to death with planks and iron rods.

The alleged offences, he noted, violate Sections 224 and 233 of the Criminal Law of Lagos State, 2015.

The case was adjourned until May 10 for DPP's advice.
