

Military kills one insurgent, repels others

Posted By: Our Reporter On: April 22, 2018 In: News, News Update

0

*Nigerian troops penetrating into Sambisa forest.

File Photo

One insurgent has been killed in an operation to repel rampaging Boko Haram at Gamboru-Ngala, Borno State.

The Director, Army Public Relations, Brig.-Gen. Texas Chukwu, said yesterday that several others fled in the operation.

A soldier however died during the operation.

Chukwu said the troops recovered one Rocket Propelled gun, one anti-aircraft gun, two AK 47 rifles and two empty magazines.

The army spokesman called on the people to cooperate with troops, provide useful and timely information to security agencies.