Three persons were yesterday killed by suspected members of Iceland cult. They invaded Ibaa in Emohua Local Government of Rivers State.

The Nation learnt the suspected cultists got to Ibaa from neighbouring communities at 6 am and started shooting sporadically, while looking for members of the rival Degbam cult.

The incident resulted in fear, as residents scampered for safety.

An Ibaa indigene, who spoke in confidence, urged the Governor Nyesom Wike administration and security agencies to be alive to their responsibilities.

Police spokesman Nnamdi Omoni's line was not reachable last night.
