

Car kills three teachers in Ogun community

Posted By: Ernest Nwokolo On: July 4, 2018 In: News, News Update

0

A car driver on Monday evening killed three teachers, all women, at Alapako in Ogun State.

One of them is said to be a teacher at a public school in Ajebo village.

The accident occurred opposite the office of the Ogunmakin Unit of the Federal Road Safety Corps (FRSC) on the Lagos-Ibadan Expressway at Alapako.

Another woman was injured.

It was learnt that the teachers were waiting by the roadside for a vehicle to convey them home after school hours when the Toyota Camry car (1996 model) with registration number (Lagos) EPE 140 BP swerved off its lane and knocked the women down on Monday evening.

The Public Relations Officer (PRO) of the State Traffic Compliance and Enforcement Corps (TRACE) Babatunde Akinbiyi recalled that “the driver lost control and hit the women (school teachers) standing by the roadside” when “one of the front tyres of the speeding Camry car” suddenly got detached.

Akinbiyi said the injured was taken to the Victory Hospital at Ogere while the dead were deposited at the FOS Mortuary at Ipara by operatives of the FRSC.

The TRACE spokesman added that the accident vehicle had been taken to the Alapako Police Station.

It was learnt that the driver was heading to Ibadan, the Oyo State capital, when the accident happened around 4.05 p.m.