Cemetery area of Ebute Metta was thrown into pandemonium on Monday, after a father of three and local government worker, identified simply as Rafiu, allegedly died during a sex romp with an unidentified woman.

The incident happened at about 11 am.

The woman was suspected to have been laced with Magun, a Yoruba name for a killer charm or juju placed on a woman that kills any man who has sexual intercourse with her.

It was said that the deceased had taken his lover to a hotel around Evans area of Ebute Metta and had sexual intercourse with her.

It was learnt that the woman fled the moment Rafiu dropped dead.

The residence of the deceased on Cemetery Road was filled with a crowd of sympathisers.

“The husband of the woman whom Rafiu had the fatal sexual intercourse with was said to have warned him several times to desist from going out with his wife, but the deceased did not listen.

“ He is just 41 years old and a native of Itele in Ijebu Ode. He is survived by an aged mother, while he recently held a remembrance ceremony for his late father.”

Contacted, police spokesman, Mr Chike Oti, said “the incident was not reported to the police.”
