The Police in Rivers have confirmed the killing of five persons in two communities in Rivers state on Sunday.

The communities are Rumukwursi Pipeline and Eneka communities.

Unknown gunmen suspected to be cultists on Sunday evening stormed a bar/football match viewing centre in Eneka Community of Obio/Akpor Local Government Area (LGA) where they reportedly opened fire on the customers, killing four people, including a female.

Eyewitness account had it the gunmen, who dressed in black, drove in a Toyota Avalon car looking for a certain person.

It was learnt when they did not see their target, they angrily opened fire on those winning off in the drinking bar.

The Nation learnt that before they visited the Eneka community, the hoodlums had gone to a nearby Rumukwurusi pipeline community also in the same LGA, where they brutally killed a final year university lady, leaving the body in pool of blood.

The state police spokesman, Nnamdi Omoni, a Deputy Superintendent of Police, who confirmed the killings in a telephone interview on Monday said, although no arrest has been made, the Police has received useful information that would lead to the apprehension of the killers.
