

HOME NEWS POLITICS COLUMNISTS BUSINESS EDITORIAL SPORTS HEALTHENTERTAINMENT MAGAZINE EDUCATION ONLINE SPECIAL FORUM

Mother, daughter die in Delta fire

by Bolaji Ogundele, Warri — June 24, 2019 in News, News Update0

A mother and daughter, simply identified as Carol and Favour, have died from a fire which razed down a building in Eku, Ethiope East Local Government of Delta State.

The fire was allegedly caused by adulterated kerosene.

Three others were injured and properties, including a commercial shop and a nearby caravan.

Details of the inferno were still sketchy as at last night, but a witness said the fire started when Carol, a kerosene dealer, was attending to a customer and the shop caught fire which spread and then the building went ablaze.

Read Also: Fire guts Gombe Main Market shops

Carol died instantly while her daughter, Favour, died on her way to the hospital.

Commissioner of Police Adeyinka Adeleke said only one person died.

He said: "Only one person died. The fire started from kerosene and petrol in the house. A woman was selling the adulterated kerosene."

Tags: daughter mother Nigeria News Nigerian Newspaper The Nation newspaper

Previous Post

 Barbarians in the House

Next Post

 Odd continuity

Discussion about this post