Police recover body in Anambra river

From Emma Elekwa, Onitsha

A LIFELESS body of a middle-aged man whose identity is yet unknown was on Thursday recovered by the police in a river in Ojoto, Anambra State.

The body was reportedly floating on the river with head injuries and hands tied behind his back.

Police spokesperson, Haruna Mohammed confirmed the incident, saying the body had been deposited at the mortuary.

He said the Commissioner of Police, John Abang has ordered a full scale investigation to unravel the circumstances surrounding the incident and bring perpetrators to justice.
