

Drunk driver 'kills' court clerk in Delta

•Five injured

March 23, 2020 in City Beats, News, News Update

0

Okungbowa Aiwerie, Asaba

A 35-YEAR-OLD drunk driver, Kingsley Ekeugbah, has been arraigned at a Chief Magistrate Court, Ogwashi-Uku, Aniocha South Local Government Area of Delta State for alleged reckless driving, leading to the death of one person, and injuries to five others.

The suspect is charged with causing the death of 53-year-old Helen Odogwu, a court clerk.

Ekeugbah is accused of driving without care and attention to other road users, leading to the death of one woman and causing injury to three family members and a commercial motorcyclist.

Magistrate Chuks Moeteke adjourned the matter until March 25 for consideration of bail.

The Nation gathered that the deceased court clerk would have read the charge sheet were she alive.