The police in Osun State have arrested a 21-year-old undergraduate of a state-owned university and his herdsman accomplice for kidnapping and killing two underage children.

Usman Muyideen, a 200 level student of Public Administration, and his 20-year-old Fulani accomplice were arrested over the death of Thompson Onibokun (13) and Samson Onibokun (12), who were said to be the children of Muyideen's elder brother.

The Nation learnt that the two children were kidnapped on January 26, 2021 on a football field around Iludun area, Osogbo, while the parents reported the case at the police station in the area before the matter was transferred to State Criminal Investigation Department.

Confessing to the crime, Muyideen said the two abductees were the children of his elder brother, accusing the herdsman of talking him into abducting them.

He said: "The herdsman talked me into kidnapping them. He is my friend. We have lived together since childhood.

"When we got to the field where Thompson and Samson were, I told them to follow me and they did because I am the younger brother of their daddy.

"We went to the football field where the children were playing and abducted the two of them.

"I know the terrain very well.

"We were in the forest for four days, giving the children bread and soft drink.

"We contacted the parents and demanded N25 million ransom. I wanted to use the ransom to start a business.

"We gave them six days to provide the ransom but, unfortunately, the two children died on the fourth day after the rope we used to tie them to a tree strangled them.

"When those children died, we did not contact the parents again. We left the corpses there and they discovered the bodies four days after."
