

Man dies at Port Harcourt bank

2
AN unidentified bank customer has died in Port Harcourt, the Rivers State capital, following several failed attempts to withdraw cash from his account for a medical treatment.

The incident, which happened yesterday afternoon, caused an outrage by members of the public, who abused the new generation bank.

One Uwaifo Oviawe posted the picture of the victim

on his Facebook account, noting that he died out of frustration.

"A customer banking with one of the new generation banks in Port Harcourt has died due to frustration and unfriendly treatment by the customer service attendants of the bank," he said.

"The man was refused access to his own money since Friday even when he came with his next of kin.

"He was asked to go to the court to get an affidavit, knowing the court was not in session."