

Panic as Police, Okada riders clash in Lagos

THERE was panic in Ogba, Lagos on Friday over the alleged shooting of a commercial motorcyclist, popularly known as Okada, by a policeman.

It was said that the clash started on Thursday when a policeman refused to pay for the service rendered to him by an Okada rider.

The policeman was said to have shot the Okada rider when he insisted on collecting a fee for the ride.. Sources said that two people were allegedly killed in the incident as scampered for safety.

Although the police spokesman, Olumuyiwa Adejobi could not be reached last night, sources said that normalcy was later restored in the area by security operatives.