

2 Woman escapes kidnappers in Rivers

TWO female job seekers identified simply as Blessing and Praise, reportedly escaped from the clutches of suspected kidnappers and human parts dealers in Port Harcourt, Rivers State, Friday.

The two friends who hail from Bomadi, Bomadi Local Government Area of Delta state, had reportedly gone job hunting from Warri to Bayelsa state, Wednesday, May 26.

However, they were referred to a company, said to be in need of workers in Port Harcourt.

According to rights activist, Comrade Israel Joe, on getting to Port Harcourt, the duo randomly boarded a commercial bus to take them to their destination.

From Elo Edremoda, Warri

"Two guys in the bus pointed gun at them and carried them into a thick forest, where they (suspects) were butchering people and selling body parts. What they do is they take you there and tell your people to bring money, in form of kidnapping.

"When you fail to bring the money, they kill the person and sell the body parts. So they gave them ultimatum till 12 noon yesterday, or kill them."
