

Body of abducted man found in Kwara forest

From Adekunle Jimoh, Ilorin

POLICE in Kwara said yesterday that found the body of one Onijala Adegboyega allegedly abducted by some gunmen last Thursday in the state.

The gunmen kidnapped the deceased on his way home from his farm in Olla town in Isin local government of the state.

Before the recovery of his body, the gunmen were said to have reached out to his family demanding N20 million as ransom.

Police spokesman, Ajayi Okasanmi, said "every available human and material resources to the command was deployed in the effort to get the deceased rescued alive, but unfortunately, the reverse was the case, as he died as a result of the severe injuries to his left hand inflicted on him by the kidnappers in the struggle to subdue him".

Okasanmi said the body was "found deep inside the bush, and has been handed over to the family by the police".
