

Imo police arrest suspected killers of Ahmed Gulak

POLICE in Imo State yesterday paraded some suspects who allegedly killed former Presidential aide of President Goodluck Jonathan, Alhaji Ahmed Gulak last year.

Gulak was murdered on Ngor Okpala Airport Road, Owerri, the state capital.

The suspects were paraded alongside others who allegedly bombed the residence of the President General of Ohanaeze Ndigbo, Prof. George Obiozor.

Commissioner of Police Mohammed Barde said the suspects confessed to be members of the Indigenous People of Biafra (IPOB) and Eastern Security Network (ESN).

He said detectives, on June 20, arrested one Anosike Chimbobi, 28, who confessed being among IPOB/ESN members that murdered Gulak on May 30, 2021.

Barde also claimed that Anosike was also involved in the burning of police stations in Aboh Mbaize, Ahiazu Mbaize, Ezinihitte Mbaize, Ihitte-Uboma

•The suspects

•Politicians sponsor us, says suspect

From Chris Njoku, Owerri

and Obowo.

The police chief equally said the suspect participated in the attack on a truckload of onions at Enyigwugwu Junction shortly after killing Gulak.

Interacting with newsmen, Anosike confessed that some politicians were behind some of their crimes in the state.

"Sometimes the politicians will come and meet our commander, Ebube Uche Madu aka Virus but our leader will drive us away each time they came to discuss with him," he said.

Also paraded were three suspects, Ifeanyi Awaenyi, 28, Ah-anotu Chimezie, 24, and Ahazie Chukwudi, 24, arrested in connection with the burning of Prof Obiozor's residence on March 19.

The suspects, who were arrested in Lagos, were said to taken part in the kidnap of one Chief Okoro Junior, and the killing of his police guard on April 28.

Barde said that the overseas-based philanthropist paid N1million in ransom before the hoodlums freed him and ran to Lagos.

Harder kill men for knocking down cow in Badaorw