

Airforce jets hit terrorists' camp in Niger

By Okodili Ndidi, Abuja On Aug 15, 2022

A major terrorists' stronghold in Kurebe, in Shiroro council of Niger State, has been bombarded by Nigerian Air Force (NAF) jets, resulting in the death of a notorious Boko Haram Commander, Aminu Duniya, and many other terrorists.

The jets struck a meeting venue hosted by the Boko Haram Commander at the weekend.

Military sources said that Aminu had invited the terrorists to Kurebe to plan for attacks.

“Over the weekend, NAF aircraft struck a terrorists’ gathering at Kurebe in Shiroro Local Government Area of Niger State after intelligence revealed that the terrorists had assembled for an important meeting hosted by Aminu Duniya, a Boko Haram terrorist commander.

“The air strike was successful and resulted in the death of many terrorists, though it remains unclear if Aminu Duniya was also neutralised in the strike.

“It should be noted that Kurebe is a known terrorists haven as the local inhabitants have since vacated the villages in and around the area after the terrorists drove them away in 2021,” a source said.
