After weeks of calmness, gunmen yesterday resumed attacks on security checkpoints in Enugu State, reportedly killing two policemen.

The attack happened some minutes before noon at a police checkpoint between Kenyatta Market and the University of Nigeria, Enugu Campus (UNEC) Stadium.

A source hinted that the policemen, who were on stop and search, were caught unawares.

A trending viral video on social media shows two of the officers lying in a pool of blood, in a roadside gutter.

The state police Command was yet to issue any statement on the incident.
