

Panic in Rivers community as cultists engage in supremacy battle

THERE was pandemonium at Elechi community in Diobu, Port Harcourt, Rivers State, after suspected cultists engaged in a shootout over control of territory.

The warring parties were suspected to be splinter groups

From Rosemary Nwisi, Port Harcourt

of the Deygbam confraternity-D12 and BS houses.

It was gathered that the tussle over who controls the territory was as a result of illegal bunkering activities that usually occurred there.

The Nation learnt that the clash, which was the third in six months by the groups, allegedly left two persons feared killed.

The latest feud reportedly started last week and has continued to escalate by the day.

Court reinstates