

④ Police arrest suspects who robbed Lagos nightclub, killed Inspector

OPERATIVES of the Lagos Police Command have arrested robbery suspects who allegedly attacked a popular nightclub at Ikeja GRA and also killed an Inspector at Alausa.

Both incidents occurred on the night of July 19.

The suspects, Salami Ahmed, 30, Ismaila Adio, 22, Toheeb Muri, 23, Seyi Olajide, 24, Nelson Sunday, 34 and James Nnamani, 24,

By Precious Igbonwelundu were arrested at their hideouts in Alagbado and Amikanle areas on August 3, and the AK-47 service rifle of the murdered Inspector recovered from them.

They were among 66 other suspects paraded at the weekend by the Commissioner of Police, CP Idowu Owohunwa at the Officers' Mess in Ikeja.

According to the police, the suspects had attacked the nightclub and dispossessed all the clubbers at the venue of their valuable possessions.

While they were trying to escape with their loot, a lone police officer said to be passing by got information about what transpired and was able to shoot one of them on the leg but his accomplices successfully carried him with them.

While on their way to their hideout, the suspects, it was gathered, sighted a lone Police Inspector around Airport Hotel, Ikeja, shot him dead and carted away his service rifle.

The murdered Inspector was alleged to be on illegal duty at the time the armed robbers killed him.
