(3) Prophet, grandmother arrested for killing newborn

From Osagie Otabor, Akure

A PROPHET, Akinjise Ifeoluwa (40) and a grandmother, Oyewole Margaret (60), have been arrested for killing a newborn.

The baby was allegedly suffocated to death after the prophet reportedly said the mother would die after 14 days because she slept with another man while pregnant.

However, police operatives did not find the Police spokesperson Funmilayo Odunlami-Omisanya, in a statement, said a case was reported that the mother, Oyewale Oluwaseun, couldn't give satisfactory account of her baby's whereabouts.

According to her, the mother claimed the baby had died and was buried without informing any family member.

The statement reads: "In the course of investigation, it was discovered that her mother, Oyewole Margaret, entrusted her care to a native doctor named Akinjise Ifeoluwa, who also claimed to be a prophet.
