

Police begin probe of woman's death in hotel

Our Reporter January 8, 2024

The Lagos Police Command has launched an investigation into the death of a yet-to-be identified woman, whose dead body was found in a hotel room.

Public Relations Officer of the Command, Benjamin Hundeyin, a Superintendent of Police (SP), confirmed the development yesterday.

SP Hundeyin said that about 6.17pm on Friday, the manager of the hotel (name withheld) reported the case at the Trinity Police Station.

He said that the manager reported that the same Friday, at 8pm, while on a routine check in hotel rooms, she discovered the woman's lifeless body on a bed.

The police spokesman said: "On receipt of the information, a team of detectives visited and cordoned off the scene, photographed the corpse and the room.

"Efforts are on top gear to evacuate the corpse to the morgue and locate the relatives of the deceased.

"We are working hard to unravel the identity of the yet unknown man, who lodged with the deceased and who allegedly fled the scene, for possible arrest."
