

Skit maker Churchill reportedly dies while filming content

Yewande Fasan January 18, 2024

In a viral video shared today, Thursday, January 18, The Nation observed that Churchill was captured dropping his phone on the ground before proceeding to jump and touch the basketball net.

Churchill unfortunately didn't touch it but he fell and struck his head on the ground.

Eyewitnesses reportedly rushed Churchill to the hospital, where he tragically passed away.

According to a lady with the Instagram handle, #LadyResa, in an interaction with Punch, said that Churchill was her schoolmate at Nasarawa State University, adding that the skit maker was bedridden after the incident.

Read Also: Soldiers rescue nine kidnap victims, arrests two suspects in Benue

“He was bedridden with a neck collar. But couldn’t survive due to internal injury,” she claimed.

Netizens have reacted to the shocking news:

Vibew Helen wrote: “His like that? Damn

Ekis Kitchen Foods wrote: “Omo God, while looking for our daily bread and what to eat, may we not be eaten in the process

3rrd wrote: “He should rest on. There are better skits he could have done than trying to jump and touch the upright. When God watches over you, make sure you guide your steps too

Mandy Chuks wrote: “This is so sad

I Am King Dinero wrote: “The sound even gave me a sharp headache

Brain box wrote: “Within seconds a life is lost. May we not die in search of our daily bread. RIP!!

Mackay wrote: “That sound of the head only. Gone

Olalekan Abimbola wrote: “May his soul rest in perfect peace

Dr Elder wrote: “Man this is sad. May his soul rest in peace