TROOPS of the Nigerian Army and the Community Protection Guards have killed three terrorists.

The troops also recovered some arms and ammunition, and rustled cattles in multiple operations that were conducted on Monday, June 10.

Army spokesperson, Maj.-Gen. Onyema Nwachukwu, announced this in a statement yesterday.

He said: "In Rukudawa Village, located in Zurmi Local Government Area of the state, troops launched an offensive operation targeting the hideout of notorious terrorist kingpin Gwaska Dan Karami. In the encounter, troops eliminated two terrorists and uncovered a terrorists' warehouse stocked with looted food supplies. The warehouse was also destroyed.

"In another operation in Mayanchi general area of Maru Local Government Area, troops on fighting patrol intercepted and engaged marauding terrorists who had rustled a flock of sheep. The troops neutralised one terrorist in the overwhelming firefight compelling the rest of the terrorists to flee, abandoning one AK-47 rifle, a magazine with three rounds of 7.62 x 39 mm ammunition, two motorcycles, and 410 rustled sheep; which have been recovered by the troops."
