

Suspected cultists kill groom-to-be in Edo

Gunmen suspected to be cultists have killed a man whose wedding was scheduled for December in Edo.

The victim, simply identified as Danladi, was reportedly killed at a friend's shop located about 100 metres from the Esigie Police Division in Oredo Local Government Area, one of the municipal council areas in the state.

A source, who pleaded anonymity, noted that Danladi was sitting in the shop when the gun emerged from a GLK Benz jeep and shot him twice at close range.

“Danladi is an easy going guy. He was the son of Seriki Hausa in the area. His death has created a huge vacuum in his family and a painful loss to his would-be wife.

Related News

- Armed cultists kill four in Rivers community
- ‘Rescue us from cultists at Ijegan Egbu’
- Suspected cultists kill man in Rivers

---

Read Also: EFCC clears Goje’s daughter for alleged naira abuse invites Nigerian bridegroom

---

“He has started sending invitation cards for his wedding to guests. He was billed to tie the knot with his partner in December,” the source said.