

Two killed as land grabbers clash in Osun

No fewer than two persons were yesterday reportedly killed as two groups of land grabbers clashed.

The land grabbers clashed at Latona as a group led by a popular political thug arrived to collect money from a developer of a property.

However, another group resisted the group, saying that they were in charge of the area, the reason they came to collect the tip from the developer.

A source said "The boys were angry because they were resisted. They told the Latona boys that their boss is the number one in Osun State and his action must not be impeded by anyone.

Related News

- May Day: Osun labour union splits over NLC's endorsement of Adeleke for second term
- Osun clinches climate action awards
- Traditional rulers join Osun peace panel to resolve Ifon, Ilobu, Erin-Osun land dispute

Read Also: May Day: Osun labour union splits over NLC's endorsement of Adeleke for second term

"The argument resulted in a brawl and they started shooting at themselves and two of them died. The skirmish forced business owners to quickly close their shops and offices."

When contacted the Police Public Relations Officers,

Abiodun Ojelabi confirmed the incident, saying: "Immediately the incident happened, we drafted our men to the area but no further report has been made as regards the incident."