A SEPTUAGENARIAN and four other suspected ritualists have been arrested by the men of the Kwara State Police Command allegedly for being in possession of a human skull.

They are Hassan Ajala, Ibrahim Adamu, Afisat Raji, Umaru Kure and Samuel Kure all of no fixed addresses.

Parading the suspects, the Police Public Relations Officer Dabo Ezekiel told journalists that the suspects were arrested by men of the state police detectives at Igbona town in Oyun Local Government Council Area of the state.

He said one of the suspects, one Ibrahim Adamu was said to have brought the skull to the old man with the alleged intention of doing money-making charms for him.

He explained that the skull was discovered at the shop of the old man where he sells local gin and other assorted drinks to the members of the public.

He said following a tip-off in the town, members of the police detectives led by ASP Alaku Asiagu went to the house of the old man where the old man was arrested with the head of human skull on that fateful day.

He noted that upon interrogation by men of the state police detectives, the old man confessed which led to the arrest of three people, Ibrahim Adamu, Afisat Raji, Umaru Kure and Samuel Kure.

When asked, the principal suspect, Ibrahim Adamu confessed that he got the skull from a dead body at a river in Gwagwalada area of Abuja.

He said that, the skull was brought to the old man to make money charms for him.

On his own part, the 70-year-old man, Mr. Hassan Ajala who denied of being an herbalist but a farmer confessed that, the skull was brought to his shop by Ibrahim Adamu so as to make charms money for him.
