

OOU medical students protest against 'illegal school fees'

OLAYINKA OLUKOYA - ABEOKUTA

HUNDREDS of students of the medical school of the Olabisi Onabanjo University (OOU), Ago-Iwoye, Ogun State, have protested against the decision of the institution's management, asking them to pay what they described as 'illegal school fees.'

The students, on Tuesday, stormed the premises of the State Assembly Complex, Oke-Mosan, Abeokuta, alleging that the school vice-chancellor, Professor Sabur Adesanya, had ordered them to pay extra two years school fees.

The students armed with placards with inscriptions such as, "Injustice is cruel and it breeds anger". "We will not pay illegal school fees", "Stop this unnecessary student extortion."

The students appealed to the lawmakers to come to their aid and address the problem.

The Speaker, Honourable Suraj Adekunbi urged the students to remain calm while assuring them that the issue would receive utmost attention.

Minister of the Interior, Abba Moro (right), being assisted by Ms Yetunde Oyewuga to display the award bestowed on him by Commonwealth Students and Youths Federation for Peace, in Abuja, recently.

Prophet in police net over prophecy

SYLVANUS EZE - AWKA

A Prophet in charge of Mount Zion Deliverance Outreach Ozubulu in Ekwusigo Local Government Area of Anambra State, Pastor Chukwudi Chimezie, is now cooling off his head at the Special Anti Robbery Squad (SARS) in Awkuzu, Oyi Local Government Area of the state.

Pastor Chimezie was said to have given a prophecy that allegedly led to the death of a sick woman from Oraifite, Ekwusigo Local Government Area, who came to his church to seek solution for her ill health.

The woman, in company of her relations went to Mount Zion Deliverance Church to seek solution over her poor health and the revelation made by Pastor Chimezie was said to have brought great shock to her, leading to her collapse and instant death in the church.

The Pastor was said to have told the woman that one of the close relations simply called Sunday, who had been catering for her and had sponsored her to the church for solution was the one causing her health problems.

The relations of the woman, doubted the Pastor because Sunday was a close relative who

Nigeria spends N125bn importing fish