AN 18-year-old boy, Franklin Njoku, has been arrested by the Imo State police command, following the killing of his landlord's four-year-old daughter.

Reports reaching the Nigerian Tribune from Owerri, Imo State, said Njoku raped the little girl to death in a nearby bush.

The suspect, Nigerian Tribune learnt, resided at Uvuru in Aboh Mbaise Local Government Area of the state where his father had arranged for him to take his West African Examinations Council (WAEC) ongoing the country.

Briefing newsmen at the police headquarters, Owerri, the police commissioner, Alhaji Abudulamaji, said after the suspect discovered that the poor little girl had died, he decided to hang her lifeless body on a palm tree.

In another development, the Imo State police command, on Tuesday, paraded one Chidi Egeolu, 32, a car wash attendant in Umuo-bidike, Owerri Eberri in Orlu Local Government Area, for alleged murder of his girlfriend.

The police commissioner, while narrating the story to newsmen in Owerri said the suspect murdered one Chikaodi Ezerem, 24, at Okwudor in Njaba Local Government Area, in her room and her three-month old baby boy taken away by the hoodlum to unknown destination.
