

Controversy as DPO kills hotelier in Osun

OLUWOLE IGE - OSOGBO

PANDEMONIUM broke out in Ilesa, Osun State, on Wednesday, when residents of Ijamo and Otapete areas staged a protest to denounce the alleged killing of a hotelier, simply identified as Monday, by a Divisional Police Officer (DPO) (names withheld).

Nigerian Tribune gathered that Monday was allegedly shot twice in the stomach around 10.00 a.m. on Tuesday by the DPO, Ijamo, who led a police team which raided his brothel in Ijamo, Ilesa.

Credible source informed the Nigerian Tribune that unidentified corpse of one person was allegedly found behind the brothel on Sunday and residents of the area promptly reported the matter to the police, but nothing was done about it.

According to the source, "around 10.00 a.m. on Tuesday, the police, led by the DPO of B' Division stormed the brothel in a raid of the area and in the process, apprehended some persons, including prostitutes.

"During the raid, Monday, who was operating the brothel, came and inquired from the

Again, Nigeria, UK meet over transfer