A one-year-old baby was feared dead and others wounded following an explosion which occurred at Eke Ozi market in Igboeze North Local Government area of Enugu State, on Friday.

The incident which occurred at about 2:00p.m few meters to the divisional police headquarters at Ogrute was suspected to be bomb blast making the market women and traders run for safety.

Reports revealed that the baby was trampled upon, while hoodlums had a field day looting shops, during the stampede, which lasted for some while.

Although commercial activities had resumed in the market when Saturday Tribune visited the scene, several traders were seen lamenting their loss.

It was gathered that the people of the area had been apprehensive, since the reports that some people suspected to belong to the Boko Haram sect were arrested at Obolo Afor community by the police last month.

Both Enugu Ezike and Obolo Afor are border towns between Benue and Enugu states.

Attempts to reach the state Police Public Relations Officer, Ebere Amarizu for comment proved abortive.

Hello to all the ogbanjes and all the chronical bastvrds liers listen up:

There is nothing like BOMB that exploded in my dear Eke-ozzi, (ozzi osegbe) Ogrute, Enugu-Ezike, Enugu state.

Am From Umuida in Enugu-Ezike, Enugu state and am at the market when everything happened.
"What happened is that there was a criminal (onye oshi) that struck ozo mmanu (oil shopping lane) in
