A Police Inspector, Lado Nuhu, serving in Jigawa State command has drowned after he was abandoned by his colleagues in Madaci village in Kirikasamma local government area of the state.

The incident occurred last Friday when the Police under operation Salama was informed that some Fulanis invaded farmlands in the area.

Speaking with Sunday Tribune, the Kirikasamma local government council chairman, Alhaji Mahamud Matafari, confirmed the incident and said “it was unfortunate and shocking.”

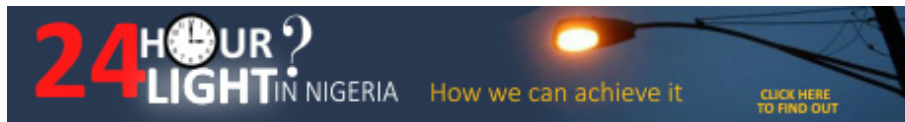

The council chairman explained that “the farmers informed me that Fulanis were attempting to enter their farms. I called the DPO and he deployed policemen to the scene. The police arrived on time and used tear gas to send the Fulanis out of the farms.

“In the process, they (police) finished their tear gasses and started withdrawing. The Fulanis realised and attacked them with bows, arrows and sticks.”

When contacted, the State Police Command Public Relations Officer, DSP Abdu Jinjiri, confirmed the death of the Inspector, stating that “one of our officers lost his life on duty when he drowned.

DSP Abdu Jinjiri maintained that “he was not killed. The police were exchanging shots with the Fulanis when he mistakenly jumped into the river and drowned.”

The police said so far two people had been arrested in connection with the incident.
