CELEBRATIONS that greeted General Muhammadu Buhari's victory in the Saturday's presidential election turned awry when a trigger happy policeman attached to Adamawa State police command, opened fire on a group of youths who were jubilating, killing a 10-year-old primary school pupil, Abdurrahman Muhammad Jimba even as he injured another.

A youth, Abubakar Musa, who witnessed the incidence told our reporter that while they were celebrating at the popular

"Mai Doki" around 9.00 p.m. on Wednesday, some policemen stormed the area and asked them to disperse before 10.00 p.m. which they obliged.

"While we were jubilating around 9.00 p.m., some policemen asked us to leave the area before 10.00 p.m. and we complied with their request. But before we dispersed, the same group of policemen started tear gassing us and later opened fire on us resulting in the death of Abdurrahman Muhammad Jimba with another injured," he said.

Musa said the policeman who fired the shot, popularly called Corporal Isaiah is notorious in the area, for harassing people and extorting money from them.

While narrating his ordeal, father of the deceased Mallam Muhammad Jimba confirmed the development, adding that since the incident, he did not receive any correspondence from the police command over the incident.

Jimba added that the deceased had since been buried according to Islamic law, calling on the authorities to commence investigation into the matter, with the view of bringing the culprit to justice.

When contacted over the incident, the PPRO Adamawa State police command DSP Othman Abubakar said they were investigating the matter.
