Residents around Ijako area, under Ifo Local Government Area of Ogun State have bemoaned the abandoning of a dead body for days along the road leading to the bus stop.

Lagos Metro could not confirm if the dead body was male or female due to the fact that it had decomposed beyond recognition.

Residents of the scene where the dead body laid were seen avoiding the area due to the stench oozing from the spot where the dead body laid.

A resident, Alfa Mustapha Orioye, said, “Ijako is under Ifo Local Government, so when we all saw the dead body dumped here in the early hours of Wednesday, we expected the officials to come around and pick it.

"Seeing dead body around this area is not new to us because of the power struggle that persists among the land sellers popularly called Omo Onile. Their struggle for land acquisition usually leads to violence and deaths of warring members. In most cases, officials of the Ifo Local Government usually come around to pick them up. However, in this case, we are yet to see them and the dead body has decomposed, causing intense stench around the area which could cause epidemic," he stated.

Findings further revealed that environment before the tipper garage is under the control of the Ado-Odo Ota Local Government while after the tipper garage is under the control of the Ifo Local Government.

When contacted on the telephone, the Director of Information of the Ado Odo Ota Local Government, Mrs Ayorinde promised to inform the environmental officials of the local government.

"I will inform our environmental officials so that they can go there and take away the decomposing body," she stated.
