Ambassador Tabari dies in auto-crash at 64

A former Nigerian envoy to the Central African Republic, Ambassador Yahaya Tabari, is dead.

Ambassador Tabari died in an auto-crash on Monday night, on Kaduna-Zaria Expressway.

A close relation to the family, Alhaji Abdurrahman Nuhu-Bayero, told the News Agency of Nigeria (NAN), in Zaria, on Tuesday, that the deceased died at the age of 64.

He said Ambassador Tabari had worked with Nigerian Foreign Mission in several countries including Saudi Arabia, Benin Republic and Central African Republic among others.

Tabari was survived by a wife, Hajiya Binta and five children.
