

Man, 60, allegedly stabs daughter to death in Anambra

Tribune Online

A 60-year old man, Mr Cletus Aguluka, has allegedly killed his daughter, Miss OnyinyeAguluka, in her sleep.

The News Agency of Nigeria (NAN) reported that the incident occurred at about 2 a.m on Friday in Osikwu Village Awgbu, Orumba North Council Area of Anambra.

According to Mrs Georgina Aguluka, wife of the suspect, trouble started when Cletus came home in the night, drunk and looked for his torch light without success.

“The children told him that they didn’t know where it was. He pretended that all was well, only for him to wake up around 1 a.m, went inside his room, brought out a machete stabbed the daughter,” she said.

She blamed the sad incident on her husband’s drunkenness.

ALSO READ: *Aristo and rage of the kitchen knife

Mr Sabastine Aguluka, the suspect’s immediate younger brother, alleged that the letter had been molesting people, especially members of his family, including himself.

An eyewitness claimed the suspect escaped through the window and took to his heels when men of the village vigilance group got to the house, after which they took the corpse to a morgue.

Mr Haruna Mohammed,

Police Public Relations Officer in Anambra State, confirmed the incident to newsmen in Awka.

“Yes, the incident happened on the May 31 at about 0200 hrs, and the suspect was arrested yesterday (June 1).

“Investigation is ongoing, after which he would be charged to court,” he said.