A yet-to-be identified commander of the Federal Road Safety Corps (FRSC) in the state, Mr Andrew Kumapayi, the woman died immediately after the accident.

According to the sector morgue in Awka.

The sector commander reiterated the call for pedestrians to be careful on the road, especially during festive periods, because of increased vehicular movement.

"My advice to road users, especially pedestrians, during this season is to be extra careful when crossing the road.

"They should endeavour to use the pedestrian bridge provided for them if any, and if there is none, they should look left, right and left again to make sure that the road is free before crossing.

"Let them wear reflective clothes when walking at night so that they can be seen by oncoming vehicles," he said.
