

Home > Metro >

Man Allegedly Punches Wife To Death Over Misunderstanding In Ondo

By Hakeem Gbadamosi-A...

On Apr 13, 2020

METRO

A middle-aged farmer, Eric Olowokande, on Monday, allegedly killed his wife, Mojere Olowokande, at Yaba Street, Idanre, in Idanre Local Government Area of Ondo State, over domestic misunderstanding.

Olowokande was said to have punched his wife to death on Monday morning after a misunderstanding between them which led to beating of his wife, resulting in her death.

It was gathered that Olowokande ran from the house into the farm after discovering that his wife had given up the ghost in order to evade arrest by the police.

The remains of the woman have been deposited at General Hospital, Idanre.

Confirming the incident, the state Police Public Relations Officers(PPRO), Tee-Leo Ikoro, said that the couple had a misunderstanding when the wife slumped.

According to Ikoro, efforts to revive the woman were not successful as she was confirmed dead in the hospital and her remains deposited at the morgue.

The PPRO, however, said that the suspect had been arrested while investigation would continue.

”

YOU SHOULD NOT MISS THESE HEADLINES FROM NIGERIAN TRIBUNE

Buy and read digital replicas of your TRIBUNE titles by subscribing through E-VENDING

We Understand The Need For Lockdown Extension, But Palliative Not Well Handled, Says Afenifere

Pan-Yoruba sociopolitical group, Afenifere, on Monday said it understood the need to extend the lockdown occasioned by the COVID-19 pandemic as announced by President Muhammadu Buhari in his nationwide broadcast, but quickly expressed worries about the continuation of the palliatives promised by him as the stimulus... Read full story

COVID-19: FG Working On Comprehensive Package For Health Workers

The Federal Government, through the Presidential Task Force (PTF) on COVID-19, is already working on a comprehensive package for health workers in the frontline of the battle against COVID-19 pandemic, the Minister of Health, Dr Osagie Ehanire, said on Monday... Read full story

COVID-19 Loan Applications Free, Says CBN

The Central Bank of Nigeria (CBN) on Monday said application for COVID-19 loan applications are free. In a statement signed by its Director of corporate Communications, Isaac Okorafor, CBN said it had received reports in the social media circles that loan seekers and owners of small-scale businesses who apply for loans provided to... Read full story

Home – Breaking News In Nigeria Today – Tribune Online About Us Contact Us Tribune TV

Disclaimer Privacy Tribune Advertisement Rates