

2 Persons Burnt To Death As Petrol Tanker Collides With Fish Truck In Osun

By Oluwole Ige - Osogbo On Aug 22, 2020

LATEST NEWS

FILE PHOTO

Share

Two persons lost were burnt to death on Friday along Gbongan-Ife Road when a petrol tanker collided with a fish truck, Tribune Online authoritatively gathered.

Sources informed Tribune Online that the head-on collision resulted in a fire outbreak, where two persons in the fish truck were burnt to death.

Confirming the fire disaster to journalists in Osogbo, the spokesperson of the Federal Service, Mrs Adijat Basiri said, “At about 11.00 am, we received a distress call of a collision between a tanker of PMS and a truck of fish at Gbongan-Ife Road, resulting in a fire outbreak.”

According to her, “immediately we moved in to put the situation under control. There were two casualties involved basically from the fish truck. Vehicles details were unavailable for now. We had to ask for assistance and turned out two of our appliances to subdue the fire.”

YOU SHOULD NOT MISS THESE HEADLINES FROM NIGERIAN TRIBUNE

North May Back Atiku In 2023 — Yakassai •Says APC should pick Southerner as presidential candidate •‘Tinubu better than Buhari who has no plan’

IF former vice president, Atiku Abubakar, contests for the presidency in the next general election in 2023, the majority of the votes from the North will go to him, elder statesman and politician, Alhaji Tanko Yakassai, has said. Yakassai, a former Liaison Officer to former President Shehu Shagari, described both Abubakar and former Lagos State governor, Senator Bola Tinubu, as potential 2023 presidential contenders...

Buhari Suspends Babalakin As UNILAG Pro-Chancellor, Sacks Acting Vice-Chancellor

President Muhammadu Buhari has suspended the Pro-Chancellor and Chairman of Governing Council of University of Lagos (UNILAG), Dr Wale Babalakin, SAN and the Vice-Chancellor, Professor Oluwatoyin Ogundipe, over the lingering crisis...

‘I Lived As A Beggar. I Begged To Eat, I Begged To Wear Clothes, I Even Begged To Put My Head Under A Roof’

EMMANUELLA Udeh had just finished peeling melon inside the one-storey building she lives in when Saturday Tribune called. Surrounded by a calm environment in Emene, Enugu East Local Government Area of Enugu State, the 39-year-old paraplegic recounted her experience since she was disengaged as a beneficiary of N-Power, a scheme set up by the Federal Government to address the issues of youth unemployment and...

We Pay N250,000 Bribe Per Trip, Lagos Truck Owners Cry Out

On Monday last week, the Lagos State government staved off a planned strike by the Petroleum Tanker Drivers Association (PTDA) in the state over alleged extortion of its members by security operatives and hoodlums in the course of conducting their lawful business...

LOOK! YOU DONT NEED TO HAVE ANY EXPERIENCE TO TRADE ONLINE,WE WILL DO IT ALL FOR YOU AND YOU WILL START EARNING A LIVING FROM TRADING ONLINE TODAY AND PROFITS WILL BE PAID TO YOUR ACCOUNT DIRECTLY. CLICK HERE TO REGISTER AND EARN

Share

Facebook

Twitter

Google+

Reddit

PREV POST

PDP plotting to attack, maim

NEXT POST

How do you deal with love

You Might Also Like

LATEST NEWS

death of
DSS operatives in Enugu
IPOB clash

LATEST NEWS

ugurates
newly elected Council
Chairmen in Ondo

LATEST NEWS

d, better positioned to support nation's growth, says
director