

Police arrest alleged 'most dreaded' kidnapper, assassin in Rivers

THE Police Command in Rivers State has confirmed the arrest of one Honest Diigbara, allegedly described as "the most wanted" kidnapper, armed robber and contract killer in the state.

The Commissioner of Police (CP) in the state, Joseph Mukan said in a statement in Port Harcourt, that Diigbara was arrested during a sting operation launched by the command on Saturday.

The CP said, "The notorious gang leader, Honest Diigbara (aka Boboski), had been on the Police watch list after he was declared wanted by the State Government who placed a N30 million bounty on him.

"But he was arrested at the early hours of Saturday during a sting operation of the command with the assistance of a local security outfit," he said.

The CP stated that the suspect was arrested in his hideout in Korokoro community, Tai Local Government Area of the state through the help of credible informants.

He explained that the suspect and his gang, on sighting police operatives advancing towards their hideout, started shooting which resulted in exchange of gunfire between them and the police.
