

Kogi: Three trailers set ablaze for crushing baby

Yekini Jimoh | Lokoja

AN angry mob on Friday night set ablaze three articulated vehicles belonging to a popular food company for allegedly killing a baby as the mother of the child and okada rider escaped death in Lokoja.

According to an eyewitness account, one of the articulated vehicles rammed into the commercial motorcycle rider along Ganaja road at about 10 pm on Friday.

The source added that while the woman and the okada rider were able to escape, the baby was unlucky as she fell from her back and after which she was crushed by the vehicle.

According to the source, the mother and the okada rider are presently receiving treatment and in stable condition.

Speaking to newsmen, the Commissioner of Police, Ayuba Edeh said but for the timely intervention of the police, more havoc would have been done to the trailers. He said the command has however brought the situation under control.
