

One killed, four shot as cultists clash in Lagos

Olalekan Olabulo | Lagos

ONE person was on Sunday afternoon killed and no fewer than 10 others injured at Ijanikin area of Lagos State when suspected cultists attacked a rival gang.

Nigerian Tribune

gathered that Sunday's attack at Alasia area of Ijanikin was a reprisal by suspected Eiye members.

The unidentified deceased person was hacked by the cult members.

A resident of the area, who simply identified himself as Baba Shola, said colleagues of the deceased were shot at by the cult members.

The cultists reportedly invaded Alasia, where the deceased person and his colleagues were having fun.

While the deceased was caught on his seat, his colleagues escaped, but the cultists went after them and shot at them.

Efforts to get the reaction of the state Police Public Relations Officer (PPRO), CSP Muyiwa Adejobi, failed as calls to his mobile phone number went unanswered.