17-year-old girl's corpse recovered in well in Ilorin

Kwara Fire Service on Wednesday recovered the lifeless body of a 17-year-old secondary school girl, Aminat Abdulkadir, who drowned in a well four days ago.

It was gathered that the incident occurred at the Aduagba-Oke Adini Alagbado area in the Ilorin East local government area of the state.

According to the director of the State Fire Service, Mr. Falade Olumuyiwa, personnel from the state Fire Service had responded to a distress call from the area for removal of the corpse of the girl.

“Several residents of the area burst into tears when they saw the lifeless body of Aminat who was a secondary school student.

“The personnel from the state Fire Service recovered the body in the presence of some policemen who handed the corpse over to her parents.

Mr. Ajo Habeeb, a traditional cloth weaver, and resident in the area said the parents of Aminat have been looking for her since three days ago before her dead body was discovered in a well on Wednesday.

The Director of the State Fire Service, Mr. Falade Olumuyiwa, described the incident as unfortunate, called on the people to be vigilant and be safety conscious.
