Bandits have stormed Tsafe town the headquarters of Tsafe local government area of Zamfara State and killed the son of the state commissioner for Security and Home Affairs, DIG Mamman Tsafe and three others.

The attack it was gathered occurred on Sunday night when the bandits clad in military uniform stormed Shiyar Namada area of the town.

Unknown to the residents, they were not military personnel, as some residents who had earlier spotted them mistook them as security operatives on routine patrol.

Thus, the residents didn't bother to raise alarm leaving the bandits to operate at their will .

Findings gathered that the commissioner's son, who was sitting at the front their house during the break of fast with others when the bandits surfaced could not run as the hoodlums opened fire at them killing them on the spot.

A source on Monday morning who shed more light on the attack said as I'm talking to you this morning I'm at the Waziri's residence where preparations for their funeral are underway,"

However, it was gathered that the attack might also be a reprisal attack as suspected bandit, who was seen at the outskirts of the town last Friday, was beheaded by the local vigilante otherwise known as Yan Sakai.

As at the time of filing the report, the state police Command or the state government are yet to react on the Incident .

Recall, in recent times, Tsafe town and surrounding communities have witnessed series of assaults and kidnappings .
